South Breaks Over as Party Goes Wet

7 of Southern States in Favor of Prohi Repeal

Democratic Convention Votes Overwhelmingly for Repeal of 18th Amendment, 934 to 213—Texas and South Carolina Joint Wet Parade—Arkansas Dry, 13 to 5

The nation sat in front of its radio receiving-sets Wednesday night and heard the Democratic National Convention at Chicago in a thundering session that lasted 5½ hours repudiate the Eighteenth amendment and declare openly for prohibition repeal.

Repeal won by an overwhelming majority, 934 votes to 213. On the roll call of states at 12:30 Thursday morning, Chicago daylight time (11:30 p. m. Wednesday in Hope), repeal went over when Ohio recorded its vote, 2 dry, 49 wet.

The big Eastern and Far Western states were conceded for repeal, and were believed prior to the convening of the delegates to hold sufficient votes to put over the repeal measure—but the big surprise of the convention was the record-breaking wet vote that was turned in by the South and Middle West.

South Goes Wet

Seven of the 13 Southern states went wet, and the total vote of Southern delegates was 181 for repeal, to 123 for resubmission.

The vote in the South.
Dry: Alabama 21-3; Arkansas 13-5; Georgia 28-9; Mississippi 20-0; North Carolina 18-8; Virginia 13-11.

Wet: Florida 12-1; Kentucky 26-0; Louisiana 17-3; Maryland 16-0; South Carolina 18-0; Tennessee 18-6; Texas 46-0.

Elsewhere there were the following surprises: The traditionally dry state of Maine voted wet 102; and Idaho, home state of the dry Senator Borah on the Republican-Independent side, went wet 8-0. Kansas remained dry, however, by the narrow margin of 12-8.

Many of the state delegations were bound by the unit rule, the majority vote of the delegation determining how the state's entire voting strength should be cast. Thus, the Idaho delegation was wet by only one vote's margin—but all eight votes of the delegation were cast as wet.

Official Salaries Mus Come Down, Taxpayers Assert

500 Persons From All Over County Jam Hope City Hall

GRAVES, KEY-NOTER

Honest Officials Want to Come Down to People's Level, He Declares

A county-wide meeting to complete organization of a Hempstead County Taxpayers league, attended by over 500 persons, gathered at Hope city hall Thursday morning and perfected a permanent organization in an effort to work for immediate and substantial reduction in municipal, county and state expense, salaries of every city, county and state office holder, to reduce taxes "and to stay on the job until this has been accomplished."

J. H. Kent acted as chairman of the organization in the absence of L. A. Foster, who was ill. Dr. W. R. Anderson, pastor of First Presbyterian church, of Hope, said the prayer opening the meeting.

Attorney O. A. Graves, designated as the "keynote" speaker for the occasion, reviewed last Thursday's meeting which was the first of its kind in Hempstead county, and stated the purpose of the league and what was to be accomplished.

Mr. Graves' Speech
He said: "I believe the expenses of the state government can be reduced at least 25 per cent by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and eliminating extravagance and by cutting the salary of every city, county and state office-holder. We are going to start at home first by asking the city and county officials to lead the way in this economy movement. We must handle our officers like we were running a business, and when a world-wide depression comes on they ought to be willing to cut their salaries and come down on the level with the rest of us."

I believe the office-holders of Hempstead county want to do right—but if they are not willing to reduce their salaries we should elect another man in his place when the next election comes around.

"The salaries of every state official as well as county employee should be slashed. A public official is not worthy of holding an office if he is not willing to go hand in hand and be on the level with the rest of the people."

"Before the next election we should look around for an honest man, investigate his past record and if it looks 'shady' not to vote for him as a representative of the people, but to select a man that confidence can be placed in."

Warns of Campaigners
Mr. Graves warned his audience to be on the lookout for Little Rock political henchmen coming into this county, paying a certain man $10 to swing votes toward his chief, in various communities over Hempstead county.

Mr. Graves touched on national politics, and recalled efforts made by congress for drastic reductions in the expense of the federal government.

In conclusion he reminded his hearers that he was not a candidate for office and didn't expect a cent for his speech—but was trying to arouse the voters' moral consciousness to rise up and put the right men in office when the next election comes.

Mr. Graves finished by saying that the office-holder should be ashamed of his high-priced salary—that they should be the ones to lead us out of

Mr. Lewis Writes About Soup-Hound

Tollie Maness Catches a Customer for Jumping on Luther

Editor The Star: As it is nearing the primary election, will be pleased to say words to the good people of Hempstead county relative of the paragraphs that appeared in our paper June 26th by Mr. Maness under June 24, 1932.

I would like to call your attention a second time to the statement of our state auditor commending our competent county judge and other county officers who have placed us at the head of the state map.

Second, we should not pay attention to any political hand-out like Mr. Maness is trying to hand us, bearing on the integrity of our judge, because he does not build or repair obsolete highways to our doors out of county funds for personal benefit. Furthermore, it could be possible that some of our small road districts have not paid road tax enough to buy a soup-hound a bowl of soup.

Third, I believe in telling about the good qualities of a man, and if there are any bad ones, let the other fellow find them out for himself.

Fourth, if Judge Higason builds a highway for Mr. Maness, we don't need any road overseers, and I will request him to build one for me, or furnish an airplane with sky-hooks for the purpose of ingress and egress to the highway. I only mention the sky-hooks attachment for the reason

Pessimistic Report on Business in May

General Trade Lines Fail to Show Seasonal Pick-Up—Month Runs Behind April, and May a Year Ago, in Eighth Federal Reserve District

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Sales of automobiles, hardware and clothing increased in May, as compared with April, but all other lines recorded decreases for the 30-day period, the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis for the Eighth Federal Reserve district, published Thursday, shows.

Declines in the general level of commerce and industry were noted, with sales volume substantially below that of the corresponding period in 1931, and the average in recent years.

Outputs in virtually all classifications of manufactures in May fell below that of the preceding month, with lines which ordinarily increase their operations at this time of the year failing to show the usual seasonal expansion. The continued lower trend in commodity prices served to further emphasize the conservative attitude of both merchants and ultimate consumers in the matter of commitments for goods of all descriptions.

Cool weather retarded merchandise movement during May, but June temperatures stimulated purchase of summer goods, particularly in urban centers. Trade in the rural sections has been adversely affected by the continued low price level of farm products.

Absorption of idle workers by seasonal occupations has more than been offset by additional releases in the industrial centers, with the surplus of farm help in all states greater than at any similar period in recent years.

When Roosevelt Forces Won

Germany Rejects French Proposal

Unwilling to Deposit 6-Billion-Mark Bond for Past-Due Reparations—Nations, However, Move Nearer Understanding, With Agreement Still Doubtful

LA USANNE, Switzerland—(AP)—Germany refused Thursday to agree to a suggestion by France to deposit a 6-billion-mark bond with the World Bank in lieu of reparations annuities, pending negotiation of revised debt agreements with the United States.

British Prime Minister MacDonald pleaded with the Germans to accept the proposal, assuring them they need not fear with regard to American generosity.

The reparations conference at Lausanne took an optimistic turn Wednesday night, when expected adjournment was put off by a change in front both on the part of Germany and France.

Germany was quoted as retiring from its original position that it would pay no reparations at all; and France came down somewhat on its demand for economic advantages equal to such reparations as might be forgiven Germany.

Meanwhile at Geneva, also in Switzerland, where the nations are gathered in a disarmament conference, France turned with increasing favor toward President Hoover's proposal that all nations cut down their military, naval and aviation armaments by one-third.

At Washington, late Wednesday, the senate rejected President Hoover's proposal that the United States join in an international trade conference, and sustained Senator Borah in a counter-proposal, voting $40,000 as American expense money toward participation in an international conference on money, particularly looking toward the restoration of silver coinage.

Hoover Signs U. S. Economy Measure

Will Save 150 Millions—No Adjournment in Sight Saturday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Hoover Thursday signed the national economy bill which it is estimated will save around 150 million dollars in federal government expenditures.

The president was informed Thursday by the congressional conferees on the unemployment relief bill that they would not complete their agreement until next week—thus ending all chances of adjournment by Saturday.

The senate passed and sent to the house a bill reducing from 4½ to 3 per cent the rate of interest on veterans' loans on adjusted service certificates.

The commission announced that the loan was approved to meet interest and taxes due Friday, saying this would prevent receivership.

Plans are under way for bondholders to take over management of the line, for an indefinite period.

Place Candidates Before Convention About 2 Thursday

Ovation Greets Presentation of Franklin D. Roosevelt

APPROVE PLATFORM

McAdoo and Murray Majority Plans Are Discussed Thursday

CHICAGO—(AP)—The presentation of Franklin D. Roosevelt for nomination for the presidency at the Democratic National Convention Thursday afternoon at the New York hotel "filled the crying need for a political American with a clear vision and knowledge of the entire situation," our chief executive.

"The most tumultuous ovation the entire convention could give," placed Governor Roosevelt before the delegates.

The convention took its vote on nomination for the presidency at 10 p. m. Chicago daylight time (Hope).

Minority Planks
The convention previously had rejected by a vote of 600 to 400 minority planks on banking, proposed by William C. McAdoo, to pay the cash bonus to fall from national conference on bimetallic and others.

Defeat of the minority plank spelled the doom of the Roosevelt proposal of Governor Alf Landon of Oklahoma, Governor

Ray, had told the convention Tuesday night that it must quit talking about prohibition unless it adopted his financial because, he said, "Unless you do something more money in circulation will have any surplus to pay."

CHICAGO—(AP)—Governor Alvin K. C. Dill, of Washington, plank adopted Wednesday night the Democratic National Convention.

Sheppard's Position
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Sheppard, of Texas, co-author of the Eighteenth amendment, said Thursday that he would vote to submit repeal amendment to the people, would oppose ratification of the plea by Texas. Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, long a repeal and modification advocate, was elected at the convention, the Democratic convention, and would not take his place before the senate calendar for consideration.

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, however, doesn't think a vote on modification can be reached at this session.

Democratic Platform
CHICAGO—(AP)—The text of the Democratic platform approved by the Resolutions Committee, follows:

In this time of unprecedented economic and social distress the Democratic party declares its conviction that the chief causes of this condition were the disastrous policies pursued by our government since the World war of economic isolation; fostered the merger of competitive businesses into monopolies, and encouraged the indefensible expansion and contraction of credit for private profit at the expense of the public.

Those who were responsible for these policies have abandoned the ideals on which the war was won, and thrown away the fruits of victory, thus rejecting the greatest opportunity in history to bring peace, prosperity and happiness to our people and to the world.

They have ruined our foreign trade, destroyed the values of our commodities and products, crippled our banking system, robbed millions of our people of their life savings and thrown millions more out of work, produced widespread poverty and brought the government to a state of financial distress unprecedented in times of peace.

The only hope for improving present conditions, restoring employment, affording permanent relief to the people, and bringing the nation back to its former proud position of domestic happiness and of financial, industrial, agricultural and commercial leadership in the world lies in a drastic change in economic and governmental policies.

Believing that a party platform is a covenant with the people to be faithfully kept by the party when entrusted with power, and that the people are entitled to know in plain words the terms of the contract by which they are asked to subscribe, we hereby declare this to be the platform of the Democratic party.

The Democratic party solemnly promises by appropriate action to put into effect the principles, policies and reforms herein advocated, and to eradicate the policies, methods and practices herein condemned.

Would Eliminate Extravagance
We advocate:
1. An immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures.

Borah Is Right—Again

ADVOCATING a world conference on monetary questions, including the restoration of silver, Senator Borah of Idaho told the senate Wednesday that he did not believe the United States could go further in discussing general trade conditions.

"The nations," he said, "can get nowhere with reference to economic matters until the reparations question is settled. Until the relationship between France and Germany is to some extent settled."

Borah—who almost belongs to either party—is as usual eminently correct. It was Borah who said that the way back to international prosperity is through cancellation of war debts and reparations; but that before the United States can help Europe, Europe must prepare to disarm.

And now Borah sees the hopelessness of American participation while Europe is still in turmoil, with France and Germany ready to fly at each other's throats.

President Hoover wished to enter upon the scene as a mediator. But Borah said "no." Borah believes: Let Europe realize in her own sweet time the need for concerted action to revive international trade—but meanwhile we can hold a world conference to restore silver as a monetary metal, helping each nation to help itself.

And hearing Borah, the senate agreed this was wise, and turned down the president, and voted forty thousand dollars for Borah's conference on bimetalism.

An Unjust Criticism

WHILE the Independent has no particular fight to make upon the candidacy of Dwight Blackwood for the governorship, we do feel like joining the scores of friends of Sam McCasey, well known Batesville lawyer, in resentment of the criticism Blackwood made of the audit commission in his opening campaign speech at Prescott the other day. He charged that "the audit commission is the biggest bunch of crooks the state has ever had on its payroll."

This characterization, of course, included Mr. Casey. The editor of this paper has known Mr. Casey for more than twenty-five years and Mr. Blackwood's arraignment is the first intimation we have ever had that Mr. Casey is not the honorable, respected, noble man his legion of friends have believed him to be for so many years.

We do not believe Sam Casey could revert overnight to the type Mr. Blackwood describes, and while we have no acquaintance with other members of the audit commission, we would say that if they measure up to the standards of citizenship typified by Mr. Casey, they constitute an outstanding, dependable, honest body of men. Mr. Casey would, his friends believe, be just as ready to defend Mr. Blackwood as he would be to accuse him if the facts warranted either course.

While The Independent is not particularly interested in Mr. Blackwood's political fortunes or misfortunes, we believe this blunder will react unfavorably to his candidacy in this section of the state.—Newport Independent.

Depression Story

INTEREST of all the tales of the depression is this one, from Michigan:

In 1929, before the crash, a man had a $280,000 loan at a bank, to cover which he deposited stock, worth, at the market then existing, $400,000. When the stock market went into a tailspin the bank sold him out, getting $330,000 for the stock, and leaving the man with his debt paid and a $50,000 credit in the bank.

Then, a little later, the bank collapsed. In a short time it was reorganized, and in the shrinkage that was involved the man's credit dwindled to $26,000. Thereupon he drew out $30,000—and bought back all of the securities he had held originally. So now he holds the same stock that he held in 1929, he has wiped out a $280,000 loan and he has $6,000 in cash. Has he gained or lost in the depression?

So They Say

Mr. Hoover and his associates start at the wrong end. What is needed is not an increase in the credit power of financial agencies. . . . Instead of credit power in the hands of others, we demand for the working classes immediate relief and employment.—Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein, chairman executive committee on unemployment, New York.

The people of Australia have shown beyond a doubt that they will not tolerate repudiation of public debts.—H. S. B. Higgins, prime minister of Australia.

Two editors have actually gone so far as to advocate my murder and to appeal for someone to carry it out.—Premier Eleutherios Venizelos of Greece.

Miss Garbo has the role of a cabaret entertainer who poses as a nobleman's wife and then finds herself in the midst of a series of intriguing adventures in which she is hard put to convince the world that she is not a fraud.

Caramel Sauce

Caramel sauce is rich but delicious. It keeps well in a cold place and can be reheated when wanted.

One cup light brown sugar, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons corn syrup, 1 cup heavy cream, few grains salt, 1-3 cup boiling water.

Cook sugar, corn syrup and salt with water over a low fire until firm but pliable ball is formed when a few drops are tried in cold water. If you use a candy thermometer it should register 241 degrees F. Stir until the mixture begins to boil and then cook without stirring. Remove from fire and let cool a few minutes. The mixture should be more than lukewarm but not unbearably hot. Stir in cream and serve.

Strawberry Sauce

Fruit sauces are well liked, and the secret in making them with fresh fruit lies in heating the sugar before adding it to the fruit. For strawberry sauce, use one quart berries, 2-3 cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Wash and hull berries. Crush with a potato masher and add sugar which has been heated in a cool oven. Add lemon juice and bring to the boiling point. Remove at once from the fire and let cool before serving. The hot sugar dissolves quickly and the fruit retains its fresh flavor. The addition of lemon juice intensifies the red of the fruit.

All small fruits can be treated this way.

Pineapple sauce is made by adding two or three tablespoons sugar to one cup pineapple juice drained from canned crushed pineapple. Cook juice

Building continued slow a year ago, but the volume of permits and contracts falling below that of the preceding month in May, 1931.

Distribution of merchandise by rail, bus operating in the district on the basis of interchanges handled by the St. Louis terminal railway association showed less activity for May, as compared with April. But the first nine days of June made a record slightly above that of the same period in May. The interchange for May was 131,636 loads against 133,955 loads in April and 128,779 loads in May, 1931. The first nine days of June made a record of 38,507 loads, while 38,322 loads were handled in the similar period of May. Passenger traffic decreased 40 per cent in May as compared with the same month last year. Estimated tonnage of the federal barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans in May was 111,200 tons, which compares with 98,789 tons in April and 95,901 tons in May of last year.

Commercial failures in the district, according to Dun's, numbered 128 and involved liabilities of $6,062,615 in May, against 151 failures in April with liabilities of $5,599,920, and 104 defaults for a total of $3,148,548 in May a year ago.

More favorable weather and purchase of goods ordinarily acquired earlier in the year were reflected in a fair increase in May sales of clothing over the April total. Demand centered chiefly in low priced apparel. Prices were practically unchanged.

The substantial increase in automobile distribution reversed the trend of recent years for this month. This increase was due largely to the fact that one leading producer in the low-price field was not able to make deliveries on new models during April.

"A report from the executive committee which was adopted unanimously by the audience was read, as follows:

"We, the undersigned, your Committee on Organization, respectfully submit the following report:

"We recommend that a permanent organization be effected to be known as Hempstead County Taxpayers League, with no membership fees or dues; and that every white citizen and taxpayer in this county be eligible to membership.

"That the purpose of this organization shall be to work for an immediate and substantial reduction of municipal, county and state expenses, salaries and taxes, and to stay on the job until this has been accomplished.

"We believe that the expenses of our State government can be reduced at least 25 per cent by abolishing useless commissions, and offices, and consolidating departments and eliminating extravagance, and by reducing the salary of every State official and employee, and we call upon our representatives to pledge themselves to vote and work for such a program in the legislature.

"We heartily approve the plank in the platform just adopted by the Democratic National Convention now in session in Chicago, which pledges the Democratic party to work for an immediate and drastic reduction of all government expenditure to accomplish the saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of the federal government.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

Ice Cream is a favorite dessert at any time of year, but we all have a special craving for its cool deliciousness when the hot summer days come. There are many attractive ways of serving it, but none more popular than with a sauce.

A plain vanilla cream is preferred by many mothers for children. If the vanilla cream is served with a sauce for the grown-up members of the family the dessert is suitable for young and old alike.

Another pleasant way to vary an ice cream between and on top of two thin slices of sponge cake. Cup cakes can be hollowed out and filled with ice cream and a sauce poured over the whole. Cream puff or éclair shells can be filled with ice cream and covered with a sauce. Sauce is also poured over the ice cream sandwich.

Chocolate Sauce

Chocolate sauce always is popular and the following recipe is excellent.

One and one-half cups milk, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 squares bitter chocolate, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cut chocolate into small pieces and put in top of double boiler. Put over hot water until melted and stir in sugar mixed and sifted with cornstarch. Be sure the cornstarch and sugar are well mixed. Slowly add milk stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until thick. It will take about 20 minutes. When ready to serve, add vanilla and beat well with a Dover beater.

This sauce is not too rich for children.

What's the use of fretting
When the joys you want slip by,
What's the use of getting
Chum of lip and dull of eye?
What's the use of moping
When your skies are dark and gray?
Does it help you in your groping,
Does it ever smooth the way?
You can't fret away your sorrows,
You can't mop away your care;
You can't wish the glad tomorrows
If the troubled ones you bear.
But your growing and your whining
And your face that's sour and grim
Will start the sun to shining
Or hasten joys to come.

MR. LEWIS WRITES

It would be impossible to land a plane in front of my home. There is more mud on one acre of land where we live than there is in a section near Mr. Maness. Now I would have this understood, that I am not demanding the judge to do this. I only want to be on the personnel list should he elect to start this work.

Fifth, I notice Mr. Mahess says something about Higason and the mules. Now folks out here in the rustic woodland where we are, use the owl for chickens, and only go to town when the moon shines all night. You see we have slim chance to learn very much. Therefore Mr. Maness ought to have been more explicit about whether he meant "mule exiles" or "donkeys." Hence out here we are going to take it that he meant the latter—and we are going to commend Judge Higason for staying with the old donkey that has been the standard-bearer for good old America since the day General Washington put the lasso on him when he crossed the Delaware.

Now at this point we are going to ask you, Judge, to continue the good work, and if the old saddle is getting worn too bad to stay on the old mule, we will get you a new one on about August 9, 1932.

Sea Monster

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Twice a giant sea monster has been reported sighted in the waters between Vancouver Island and the mainland of British Columbia. On both occasions the monster was reported from the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Adelaide. It was described as being about 40 feet long, colored blue and white, and with a bulbous body and great speed. The crew and passengers of the ship saw the strange animal, it is said.

Couldn't Hurt 'Em

DENVER, Col.—The Thomas children are a tough lot. Mattie Lou Thomas, co-ed, recently was in an automobile accident and received a bump on the head. She walked around four days before it was discovered that her skull was fractured. Brooks Thomas, her brother, also was in an accident a short time ago. Two weeks later it was discovered his shoulder was fractured.

Family of Nations

EL PASO, Tex.—El Paso is now the home of Gilberto Valenzuela and his cosmopolitan family. Valenzuela, candidate for president of Mexico in 1928, has four children. His son, Gilberto, 9, was born in Mexico City; Carlos, 7, was born in Brussels, Belgium; Bioria, 5, was born in London, and Raul Hector, 2, was born in Los Angeles.

Big Plane Model

PASADENA, Cal.—One of the largest model airplanes ever built in the United States which flew successfully was the one recently demonstrated by the Washington Junior High School here. It was powered by a two-cylinder midge gasoline motor and flew under set control. It flew a distance of several hundred yards. Its wing spread was 10 feet, and its tank gasoline tank carried one pint.

abolishing customs commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government; and we call upon the Democratic party in the states to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result.

2. Maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced on the basis of accurate estimates within revenues, stated by a system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay.

3. A sound currency to be preserved at all hazards; and an international monetary conference called on the invitation of our government to consider the rehabilitation of silver and related questions.

4. A competitive tariff for revenue, with a fact-finding Tariff Commission free from executive interference; reciprocal tariff agreements with other nations; and an international economic conference designed to restore international trade and facilitate exchange.

5. Extension of federal credit to the states to provide unemployment relief wherever the diminishing resources of the states make it impossible for them to provide for the needy; expansion of the federal program of necessary and useful construction affected with a public interest; such as flood control and waterways, including the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes deep waterways; the spread of employment by a substantial reduction in the hours of labor; the encouragement of the shorter week by applying that principle in government service; advance planning of public works.

6. Unemployment and old age insurance, under state laws.

7. For the restoration of agriculture, the nation's basic industry. Better financing of farm mortgages through reorganized farm bank agencies at low rates of interest, on an amortization plan, giving preference to credits for the redemption of farms and homes sold under foreclosure; extension and development of the farm co-operative movement, and effective control of crop surpluses so that our farmers may have the full benefit of the domestic market; enactment of every constitutional measure that will aid the farmers to receive for basic farm commodities, prices in excess of cost.

8. A navy and an army adequate for national defense, based on a survey of all facts affecting the existing establishments. That the people in time of peace may not be burdened by an expenditure fast approaching a billion dollars annually.

9. Strict and impartial enforcement of the anti-trust laws to prevent monopoly and unfair trade practices; and revision thereof for better protection of labor and the small producer and distributor; removal of government from all fields of private enterprise, except where necessary to develop public works and natural resources in the common interest. Conservation development and use of the nation's water power in the public interest.

We favor repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

To effect such repeal, we demand that the Congress immediately propose a constitutional amendment to purely representative conventions in the states called to act solely on that proposal.

We urge the enactment of such measures by the several states as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the states.

We demand that the federal government effectively exercise its power to enable the states to effectually protect themselves against importation of intoxicating liquors in violation of their laws.

PLACING REPEAL

Forming repeal, we favor immediate modification of the Volstead act to regulate the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the constitution and to provide therefrom a proper and needed revenue.

10. Protection of the investing public by requiring to be filed with the government and carried in advertisements of all offerings of foreign and domestic stocks and bonds true information as to bonuses, commissions, principal invested and interests of sellers.

Regulation to the full extent of the federal power of (a) holding companies which sell securities in interstate commerce; (b) sales of utility companies operating across state lines; (c) exchanges trading in securities and commodities.

11. Quicker methods of realizing on assets for the relief of depositors of suspended banks and a more rigid supervision of national banks for the protection of depositors and the prevention of the use of their moneys in speculation to the detriment of local credits.

The severance of affiliated securities companies and the divorce of the investment banking from commercial banks; and further restriction of Federal Reserve banks in permitting the use of Federal Reserve facilities for speculative purposes.

12. The full measure of justice and generosity for all war veterans who have suffered disability or disease caused by or resulting from actual service in time of war, and for their dependents.

Oppose Debt Cancellation.
13. A firm foreign policy including: peace with all the world; and settlement of international disputes by arbitration; no interference in the internal affairs of other nations; the sanctity of treaties; and the maintenance of good faith and of good will in financial obligations; adherence to the World court with the pending reservations; the pact of Paris abolishing war as an instrument of national policy; to be made effective by provisions for consultation and conference in case of threatened violation of treaties; international agreement for reduction of armaments; and co-operation with nations of the Western Hemisphere to maintain the spirit of the Monroe doctrine.

We oppose cancellation of the debts owing in the United States by foreign nations.

14. Independence for the Philippines; ultimate statehood for Porto Rico; the employment of American citizens in the operation of the Panama Canal.

15. Simplification of legal procedure and reorganization of the judicial system to make attainment of justice speedy, certain and at less cost.

16. Continuous publicity of political contributions, a real expenditure, strengthening of the corrupt practices act, and severe penalties for misappropriation of campaign funds.

We condemn:
1. The improper and excessive use of money in political activities.

2. Paid lobbies of special interests to influence members of Congress and other public servants by personal contact.

3. Action and utterances of high public officials designed to influence stock exchange prices.

4. The open and covert resistance of administrative officials to every effort made by congressional committees to curtail the extravagant expenditures of the government, and to revoke improvident subsidies granted to favored interests.

5. The extravagance of the Farm Board, its disastrous action which made the government a speculator in farm products, and the unsound policy of restricting agricultural production to the demands of domestic markets.

6. The usurpation of power by the State Department in assuming to pass upon foreign securities offered by international bankers, as a result of which billions of dollars in question-

Second Negro Dies of Gunshot Wound

Willie Stuart, 17, Succumbs—Lee Hendrix Facing Trial

Shotgun wounds proved fatal for Willie Stuart, 17-year-old negro and reputed police character. He died at Julia Chester hospital at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

Stuart was shot by Lee Hendrix, another negro, at the latter's home two and a half miles west of Hope Monday afternoon.

He was brought to Julia Chester hospital in an unconscious condition and remained that way until his death Wednesday night. Physicians said they held no hope for Stuart's recovery. Several shots had penetrated his brain and some lodged in his eyes.

Hendrix was arrested by Chief of Police Claude Stuart and Deputy Sheriff Will Porter as a suspect after the shooting.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vesey said Thursday that a murder charge would be filed against Hendrix.

Russia in the Air

MOSCOW.—Soviet Union's aeronautical budget for the current year totals about $33,010,000, of which amount more than half will be devoted to new construction of 1155 airplanes in the five-year period. These planes are to cost about $15,500 each.

French Air Budget

PARIS.—Commercial aviation companies receive the big share of the 1932 French Air Budget of about $11,260,000. One of the important appropriations in the budget is $1,115,000 for subsidies to commercial companies including $2,352,000 for Aeropostale Company.

able bonds have been sold to the public upon the implied approval of the federal government.

7. The Hawley-Smoot tariff law, the prohibitive rates of which have resulted in retaliatory action by more than 40 countries, created international economic hostilities, destroyed international trade, driven our factories into foreign countries, robbed the American farmer of his foreign markets and increased his cost of production.

Conclusion:
To accomplish these purposes and to recover economic liberty we pledge the nominees of this convention and the best effort of a great party whose founder announced the doctrine which guides us now, in the hour of our country's need. "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none."

Fulton Negro Is Held For Murder

Alonso Jackson Is Bound Over in Shooting of Willie Martin

Alonso Jackson, Fulton negro, was bound over to the Hempstead county grand jury without bail on a charge of murder, by Justice Weaver at Fulton late Wednesday, in connection with the fatal shooting of Willie Martin, another negro.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vesey appeared for the state. The prisoner, not represented by counsel, was taken to Fulton for trial by Deputy Sheriff Allen Shipp.

2nd Chicken Thief, Wounded, Captured

Robert Johnson, Negro, Arrested by Prescott Sheriff

A second alleged chicken thief suspected in the recent raid on farmers' hen-coops south of Hope was taken in charge Thursday morning by Sheriff Weaver of Nevada county, at Prescott, and turned over to Hempstead county officers.

He is Robert Johnson, negro, of Hope. Johnson was discovered to be wounded, and Sheriff Weaver picked him up on suspicion that he was connected with the raid below Hope, when three negroes fled as farmers' flocks were fired on them.

Willie Logan, negro, was shot in the leg and captured on the spot, later being tried in Hope Municipal Court and sentenced to jail. The Johnson negro, who like Logan is only slightly wounded, will be given a hearing before Municipal Judge U. A. Gentry late Thursday, it is expected.

"ALL GOD'S CHILLUN WANT THINGS!"

by HENRY T. EWALD
President, Campbell-Ewald Company, Detroit

AMID all the pessimism over business conditions, there is one hidden but powerful force at work which will carry America upward again as surely as the seasons unroll: the growing human wants and needs for products of all kinds.

We have had a three-year slump in consumer buying—and therefore a three-year rise in potential demand—because there is no real "saturation point" in human desire. It runs strongly today all through life, from the small boy calling for a radio set to world leaders seeking a solution to politico-economic problems which affect the buying power of millions. "All God's chillun want things!"

The volume of pent-up demand may be measured by the following record of consumer purchases in four typical industries during 1931 compared, not with 1929, but with the more normal year of 1926:

1. America's investment in food products during 1931 was one-and-a-half billion dollars less than in 1926.
2. In men's and boys' clothing, expenditures were less than half those of five years ago.
3. In residential building, last year's record was less than a third that of 1926.
4. And in the automobile industry, always looked upon as an index of consumer buying, orders were less by a million and a quarter cars than the record of 1926.

"Down—down—down" has run the gloomy song of consumer business organizations, large and small, will participate in the rewards in direct proportion to their courage, preparedness and sustained selling and advertising effort.

purchases during these past few years. But meanwhile "up—up—up!" has run the cheerful song of potential demand. With more than forty-three millions of our people still gainfully employed—with our gross income greater than that of all Europe combined—with "Our Poor Little Rich Country" still rich in many ways even today—there need be little doubt as to what will eventually happen. Now "The Depression," if you will—later "The Deluge" of pent-up buying unloosed.

Make no mistake about it, the volume and the kind of Advertising which individual businesses do or fail to do today will have an inevitable effect upon the fortunes of those businesses both now and later. Advertising can and will win results for good products in the present market and still greater results in the future. The vital need is for good Advertising—definitely geared to the mood and manners of today—well planned, well directed, well sustained, that it may create a strong identity and an indelible preference for the particular product.

America has only begun to live, to aspire, to achieve. The business contest may not seem overly exciting at the moment, but the facts show that "all God's chillun want things." Who will rule our various industries when this pent-up demand breaks—old champions or new?

"The time has come, the Walrus said, to talk of many things—Of shoes—of ships—of sealing wax—of cabbages and

PEARL BRIDE

It was a beautiful day, the sun was shining, the birds were singing, and the flowers were in bloom. It was a perfect day for a wedding. The bride was beautiful, the groom was handsome, and the ceremony was perfect. The wedding was a success, and everyone was happy. The bride and groom were in love, and they were going to live happily ever after. The wedding was a beautiful day, and it was a day that everyone will remember. The bride and groom were in love, and they were going to live happily ever after. The wedding was a beautiful day, and it was a day that everyone will remember. The bride and groom were in love, and they were going to live happily ever after.

PEARSON glanced at his watch. "Can't tell. He was waiting for a long distance call when I left. But you needn't worry about Dan. That lead leads a charmed life!"

"I wish we'd all waited and come together," Cherry said.

Pearson gave her a quick glance. "You're not afraid, are you?" he asked.

She was but refused to admit it. The rain was falling in his dream now and the sky had darkened rapidly. Pearson drove without regard for speed limits.

Suddenly the storm burst in earnest. An ear-splitting peal of thunder was followed by flashes of sheet lightning. The rain fell in torrents. Both Cherry and Pearson were soaked wet. It was almost impossible to see through the windshield and the road ahead was like a pylon.

There was another burst of thunder. The girl shuddered and crouched close to the seat as the countryside was illuminated by the blinding lightning.

Pearson drew the car to the side of the road, set the brakes. "We'll get the top up!" he shouted.

It took much tugging and pulling to get the top of the convertible roadster into place. Cherry helped. The wind and rain lashed about her as she struggled with strength she had not known she possessed. Her hair, her hair, every garment she wore was dripping wet.

At last they were inside with the cloth roof over their heads. Pearson turned on the headlights and they were on their way once more.

"Sorry to get you into such a jam," he mumbled.

"But it wasn't your fault."

"We should have gone back," he apologized. "Could have made it to some sort of shelter. Wait—I've just had an idea!"

He stopped the car, got out and with force as well as wit. Answers almost anything, in fact, except as to promising to support the nominee of the convention.

What about stopping Roosevelt? "I'm out to beat the 'stop Smith' campaign that began a year and a half ago!"

Seen Jim Farley, Roosevelt's manager? "Yeah, going up in the elevator."

Seen the Roosevelt may of Roosevelt strength? "Yeah, what do they represent—acres or people? I see they've got Minnesota colored for Roosevelt. There's a contest up there. There ought to be a stop-light on that!"

And occasionally a sharp, incisive "No!" or "Yes!" which somehow seems to imply far more than the mere word. That fast side accent of Al's often lends itself to infinite tones, sarcasm or even to fervent sincerity.

Contrast With Hoover

Anyway, he has been God's gift to correspondents since that dispiriting Republican convention and you automatically contrast him to Herbert Hoover with reference to the president's press conference manner.

Hoover is quiet, dignified and heavy. His humor, always far from spontaneous, is labored and hardly ever keen. He appears uneasy, often, that he seems self-assured and he is more reticent than forceful.

Half the time Hoover calls off the press conference altogether. When he does have them the questions must be submitted beforehand and he answers whatever he chooses, discarding the rest. He issues some prepared paragraphs for quotation and says other things, seldom exciting, which must not be attributed to him. You can't fire questions at him. He sometimes beams, but he never seems to have any fun.

The contrast partly explains why most newspapermen are so much fonder of Al—why they made so much of him after he came. Al is copy. He is warm and human.

Whether he would have made a better president is something else again and no concern of a mere writer of feature stories.

Which means that we can now turn to another contrast and take a look at another presidential candidate, Governor Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma.

Better Than Pictures

Bill is a most extraordinary person. Not even any of the professional freaks who always infect conventions is more picturesque than he. You can't appreciate him from his pictures—a great nose, the walrus dirt gray, mustache, the long hair bristling behind, the penetrating eyes, the great fang-like teeth, the brown muffer around his neck and the old brown hat.

Murray reminds you somewhat of Smith—he talks so directly, answers so quickly and often pointedly, so fearlessly, though often so gruffly. His language is somewhat cruder than Smith's; he takes longer and more loudly. But he, too, is a master of wisecracks.

He was in bad humor on his first day here. I saw him get brusquely and almost insultingly to a group of successive callers, including some

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

CHICAGO—Al Smith of New York—bearing, victorious, irresistible lion? Sacrificial lamb?

Do you know the respective attitudes of Al and his friends, the favorites who owe their small chances to Al's candidacy and of the followers of Governor Franklin Roosevelt who would have sewed up the convention weeks ago had Smith not stepped out in opposition?

Take any viewpoint you like—and still Al Smith is the big show at this colorful national Democratic convention. The convention began when Al reached Chicago and it isn't over until he has said his last word.

Bill a Happy Warrior, in the face of odds. Still the antithesis of a pussy-fighter, sitting gaily and confidently before 75 or 100 newspapermen, snapping off fast answers to their fire of questions. Bringing laugh after laugh in which his broad grin joins every time.

Perfectly self-assured but not belittling, he sits behind a table at the end of a ballroom, legs crossed and smiling away at a cigar. His unbuttoned vest is held together only by a watch-chain. His necktie, a slip-in in its floats outside despite a general immaculateness. Red-faced slightly grayer than four years ago, he is a handsomer man than the car features would have you believe.

Relaying the Show

Has he not believes he is a showman? Has he not more than any other indicated full awareness of the fact that he is a showman? Has he not more than any other indicated full awareness of the fact that he is a showman?

SMITH FOR SMITH—Here's Alfred Emanuel Smith in his campaign headquarters at Chicago, telling the newspapermen in two words what he's convinced the Democratic party needs in the coming campaign—"Al Smith."

newspapermen—and Bill a presidential candidate! Then he did a much more than risk a trick joke with a pen and a piece of paper and proceeded to become amiable. He grinned boyishly and joked incessantly, but insisted he was going to demand platform planks calling for farm mortgage moratorium and guarantee of cost of production to producers. His answers were bitten off with all the snap of Smith.

"We want no prohibition plank for fanatics or hoodlums," he said. "The League of Nations" will make more wars than it'll ever prevent. Right now we're likely to get into war any time because of too close financial relations. . . I wouldn't permit the loan of money to any foreign government, especially for armament. . . I'm opposed to any co-operation with Europe except the old system of peace and commerce. . . The resolutions committee is taking the thing under advisement and that means to take a drink.

"The nomination? I'm not so sure I want the damn thing. The whole world may blow up before next March. If I could get into the White House before the buses come I'd like to do it."

"Our state convention in Oklahoma unanimously authorized me to name the delegates to this convention. It was a great surprise to me, but I immediately got up and read them a typewritten list of the delegates and they passed it unanimously, unapologetically pledging the delegates to give for Bill Murray, till Bill Murray released them. . . Precious Metals Write Their Own Signs on Special Beads

By HOWARD W. BLANKENHORN
(Associated Press Science Editor)

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP)—Little gold and silver beads made at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology contain a new clue to deposits of rare metals in the west and southwest.

The metals are platinum and its rarer relatives, ruthenium, rhodium, palladium, osmium and iridium. These are mostly newcomers in commercial mining, but all potential prosperity builders.

They occur in many ores mixed with gold or silver, especially with gold, but are so different that their existence, even in paying quantities, has been as difficult to detect as a needle in a haystack.

The Michigan Tech discovery is that every one of the platinum metals will write its own peculiar sign upon a gold or silver bead made by a certain easy process. These autographs reveal both the presence of the rare metal and an accurate idea of how much there is. The sign reading was largely developed by J. L. Byers of the metallurgy faculty.

The beads are droplets of gold or silver slightly smaller than match heads. They are made by heating highly purified filings of the ore to be tested.

If there is any ruthenium in the gold, even as little as one-tenth of one per cent, the surface of the bead will show somewhere a small, corrosion dark blue spot, a tiny crystal of ruthenium dioxide.

These blue spots spread like moss on a stump according to the percentage of ruthenium. Always they show first at the bottom of the gold droplet. As the amount of rare metal increases, the blue encrustation spreads upward. With two per cent of ruthenium in the ore, the blue mantle entirely covers the gold.

Spain's Highways Decay

MADRID (AP)—Concerns operating motor trucks complain that Spain's road network, constructed under the monarchy at a cost of $100,000,000, is falling into decay because the republic does not spend enough for maintenance.

And soon Alfalfa Bill was dilating on the possibilities of American trade in the markets of South America, telling off the names of dozens of remote rivers on which he had traveled, describing the yearning of the natives for American products, explaining the splendid fiscal system of Uruguay, telling how he himself had sold the first plows, sewing machines and overalls in the far headwater of the Amazon.

MR. FARMER!

The main issue in this campaign is the Depression. The measure of relief we have had the right to expect from the present Congress will not materialize and no one can predict with any degree of accuracy what our economic conditions will be six months hence. Therefore your eyes will necessarily be turned no doubt pleadingly, to the new Congress which convenes next March.

The make-up of that new Congress is in the formative stage now! You will soon be expressing your choice for United States Senator, and you must choose with greater foresight than you have ever exercised before!

Meditate! Ponder! Be ready to vote wisely on August 9.

Do you want for your Senator a man 65 years old who has been on the pay roll of the State of Arkansas almost continuously for the last thirty-eight years, who is campaigning while a member of the Supreme Court, and who now seems dissatisfied with his state job that pay $7,500 a year?

Do you want for your Senator a former governor who for the last few years has been in the employ of the Power Trust, making speeches all over Arkansas and other states in its behalf, enlightening the people in flowery language of the wonderful virtues of that giant Octopus?

Do you want for your Senator a satellite of the Insull interests? I invite your attention to his banners strung from electric light poles over the highways around Fort Smith and his placards securely housed behind the closed doors of the defunct banks of Arkansas.

Do you want for your Senator a man who deserts his comrades—the veterans of the World War—in their hour of need, and whose chief supporters are the big independent oil companies?

Do you want for your Senator a gracious lady?

Do you want for your Senator a Cotton Broker, and an Ex-Sheriff of Pulaski County who recognizes but one issue?

My friends, you may choose either of these, but before you decide finally, I ask for an honest consideration of my candidacy. A short outline of my platform has been published many times, and I am willing to state my position on any issue.

I recognize the duty the Congress owes to the American farmer. If this nation is to endure, the independent, home-owning, home-loving farmer must be saved from the reaction of the present financial crisis. In saving the farmer, we go far toward saving the laboring man, the independent business man, and the average citizen.

I am asking for the opportunity to be your servant—I have no desire to be your master.

Japan's zeal is better understood when it is explained that the United States Olympic committee has been digging for months in the effort to raise $350,000 to finance 400 athletes. And, by the way, apparently Japanese athletes live more cheaply than the American variety.

He'll Be Back
Jack Saltzger, the expensive infielder farmed by the Yankees to Newark, will not be there long. Jack is a splendid infielder, but was the victim of a batting slump from which he could not rally. The lad is a fighter, and he will get it back at Newark.

Thomas, the Enigma
How much good Al Thomas, bought from the White Sox, will do the Senators is a hard one to answer. Thomas has been a chronic sufferer from a lame arm, which, by the way, habitually got better toward the end of the season whereupon Tommy would pitch superbly against the Cubs in the city series. Maybe Mr. Thomas has only been spoofing around the last few years. And maybe not.

It's a Hot League
The Cincinnati nine's plunge from third place to the cellar shows clearly what a tight race the National League is having. Cincinnati dropped ten in a row to the Pirates, Cardinals, Giants and Phils, but at the end of the streak still were only eight games out of first place.

In the American League there is approximately that margin between the first and second place clubs. Incidentally, five of those ten straight defeats the Reds suffered were by a margin of one run.

Dusting 'Em Off
The bad blood between the Cubs and Dodgers really arose from the alleged craving of Cob pitchers to "dust off" Brooklyn batsmen. It started last season.

The Cubs piled up a 12-0 lead against Dazzy Vance, Charley Root, Cub pitcher, finding time heavy on his hands, entertained himself by heaving the ball at the Dodger batsmen for the fun of seeing them dodge.

DO YOU INHALE?

What's there to be afraid of?

7 out of 10 inhale knowingly—the other 3 do so unknowingly!

DO you inhale? Lucky Strike meets the vital issue fairly and squarely ... for it has solved the vital problem. Its famous purifying process removes certain impurities that are concealed in even the choicest, mildest tobacco leaves. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you inhale! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

And since you do inhale—make sure—make absolutely sure—your cigarette smoke is pure—is clean—that certain impurities have been removed!
